The three agents marked with a query are doubtful but are believed to be there, though in an emaciated condition which makes recognition from photographs difficult.

As the Russian forces are approaching RAWICZ, if they have not already arrived, it is felt that they should be advised of our interest in these prisoners, possibly through our German and Russian sections, so that we might be informed should any of them be rescued. Also the agents would receive proper treatment immediately and not get into difficulties with the rescuing forces through being unable to explain their position satisfactorily.

Major SEYMOUR of "C" also interrogated Capt. ROUSSET with regard to C agents who might also be imprisoned at RAWICZ and showed him photographs.

All of our agents if asked who they knew in London - with the exception of Lauwers, should state the following - Capt (or Major) Bingham, Captain Kieftink, Capt Knight and Miss Bond. Lauwers would have known - R.V. Lanning, Dick Lanning, Frank Dusen, Major L.H. Levee, & Capt. Kauls.
